(h.) To have power to unite with other churches or congregations similarly constituted, in order to form or be incorporated with a single church or religious body, whether under the name of "The Evangelical Church of British Columbia" or such other name as may be mutually agreed upon; to promote unity and strength, and to further the cause of the Gospel: Provided always that any such union or incorporation shall be regarded as a violation of the trust hereby constituted, and therefore invalid, and ab initio null and void, which involves a departure from the doctrine and practice fundamental to the faith and life of the Society as defined in paragraph (b) hereof; and that no union or incorporation with any other religious body can be consummated without the consent of at least three-fourths of the total membership for the time being of the Society.
